to 0. But the character of this Army team asserts itself, and at the half, the Army is down on the Navy's one yard line. But the Navy holds, and it is still 6 to 0.

There are more floats, and more excitment and entertainment during the half, but you know you are going to see a wonderful brand of football in the second half. And it was just that. One of the tightest games in all the history of the series, and Army wins, 14 to 6!

Well, back in your car, you wonder how long it will take you to get out of the traffic jam. Officers are overhead in helicopters, shouting directions, and in much less time than you had figured, you are back on the open road to Washington. We were back in Washington shortly after 9:00 o'clock. And looking back over the matchless experience, the chant that rings in your ears now is: "GOOD Old Army!" "GOOD Old Navy!" "GOOD Old America!"

(Statistics: It took 30 tons of paper to print the programs, and $30,000 worth of chrysanthemums were sold at the game, and nobody knows how many sandwiches and hot dogs.)

Secretary of Defense Wilson said failure of the Foreign Minister's conference would have "little or no impact" on defense spending.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Mrs. Mary Fore, who died 10 years ago, Nov. 30, 1945.
Death is a heartache,
No one can heal,
Memories of keepsake,
No one can steal.
Beautiful memories
Are all I have left,
Of the one I loved
And will never forget.
—Mrs. Vernie Jones.

Home Agent's Notes

By Mrs. B. G. Anderson
Home Demonstration Agent

only at Christmas, but gift goes on all through the year, with birthdays anniversaries, getting-away presents, get-remembrances, and all special are enough to keep one busy ing everyday. A good gift not necessarily have to be bought." We usually think of gift as being one that is to the recipient, perhaps thing he may or may not buy self. Gifts should be carriers wishes and not just a full- of an established custom. of the best gifts in the world costs money value.
ing a gift can be fun if there ry of time. Be resourceful in for different ideas for dif- ferent people. Give some thought to the individual's occupation, personality, age, where he lives and so on. Gifts from the hands as well as from the heart are always cherished, but they can be useful as well as pretty. Many farm people fail to realize that they do not have to spend weary hours shopping for gifts but can find very suitable gifts around their farmstead or in their rag bag, be it for any occasion or for Christmas, which is just around the corner. Some gift suggestions to make:

Gifts For A Child

Stick horses made from a broom stick. Head can be made from an old felt hat or heavy material.

Stuffed toys—sack dolls or animals. Doll furniture. A cute little cradle from an oatmeal box split lengthwise. Bibs, play aprons, etc. Try your textile painting skill in decorating T-shirts and other articles of clothing. Rag book made from a solid piece of material. Stitch together like pages in a book. Paste favorite pictures or textile paint animals on each sheet. Bean bags are fun to make and even grown-ups like to play with them. They may be made in shapes of animals, clowns, etc.

Gifts for a person who travels: Shoe bags made from gingham or plastic, or crocheted and knitted bags are very nice.

Sewing kits made from old felt hats or scraps of leather. Attach various threads, needles, pins ,snaps and a small pair of scissors.

Individual cases for flowers, underwear and stockings made from plastic and bound with tape.

Soft scuffs made from felt, terry cloth and soft leather.

Gifts for one who likes to cook: Aprons of all kinds. Make a husband and wife set. Decorate with textile paints or bands of bright colored tape. Recipe box - decorate a file box for recipes. A cigar, soap, or any heavy type box is good.

A cook book jacket made from oil cloth or plastic to help keep the cook book clean.

Herb bouquets: If you grow herbs these are a lot of fun to make. Take cheese cloth squares and tie up dried herbs—just enough for a pot of soup of a mixture of salad dressing.

A knife rack or a rack to hold other utensils. Take a square of peg board and finish with molding for hanging over a stove or near a cabinet.

Gifts For The Shut-ins

A potted plant—you can make or decorate the container. Take a small loaf bread pan and paint it. A terry cloth with a man-sized bib. A scrapbook of poems; a lap board made from plywood; a book rest; a bird feeder for outside the window; bed socks and bed jackets.

Gifts For A City Family

Nuts, cornmeal, plum puddings, preserves and various foods attractively packaged. Large sprays of greens or pine cones for decorating—but do not send before Christmas. A load of wood for the fireplace or bundle of kindling if there is a fireplace.

Why not start a family gift making project? Even the small fry can join in the fun and the gifts are something special.

Health and Beauty

Take a good look at yourself while you're walking along the street next time you pass a plate glass window. Chances are good that you will find that you can look much better if you straighten up.

A graceful walk and good carriage is most important for reasons of health and beauty. Some persons bounce along, while others walk with little mincing steps. Still others stride in a stiff - legged manner. There are those of us who loiter in our walk as if we are not quite sure where we are going. Just the opposite are those who walk with stern purpose and determination.

The ideal to strive for is a graceful carriage and a smooth gait. Beauty advisors tell us that these are two two of a woman's most important attractions.

In order to walk gracefully, you must stand straight. Pull your tummy in and your hips under. Relax your shoulders and hold your head up. Then point your feet straight ahead. Now, as you walk, relax your knees so you do not over-extend them at the end of each step. Also keep them close together so they just barely miss touching as you walk. After you practice this way of walking and standing you will find that it really feels much better and more natural, for it is the way your body was meant to be held.

If you have had poor posture for a long time, or have made a few mistakes without realizing it, you will have to double your practice efforts. But the results will be well worth it. An aggressive walk isn't attractive to a woman. Remember not to pump your arms as you walk. Instead, let them swing gracefully. Then listen to the compliments that will come your way.

AVERAGE INCOME

The average 1954 income of 50,000,000 men who had some income was $3,200 and for some 28,000,000 women, the average figure was about $1,200. This was about the same as in 1953, but was considerably higher than in 1945.

A FLYING SUBMARINE?

Wilmington, Dela.- A patent on an idea for a flying submarine, equipped with water skiis and armed with torpedoes, has been issued to Don B. Doolittle, vice-president of All-American Engineering Company. While it would be "some time before the idea becomes a reality," according to Mr. Doolittle, he added that the only difference between flying in air and "flying" in water is "just a question of density."

HUNTERS SAVED BY SNOW PLOW

Ogden, Utah.- Nine hunters—eight men and a woman—were stranded at an isolated ranger station by a heavy snow storm. They spent two nights of subzero cold in the ranger station, which was stocked with food and firewood, until a snowplow, churning up a mountainside, through powdery, drifting snow, reached them.

WOMANS CLUB TO HAVE BOOK REVIEW TUESDAY

The Fine Arts Department of the Womans' Club of Appomattox will have the monthly Book Review December 6, Tuesday evening, in the County Library, beginning at 8:00 o'clock.

Mrs. Frances McDearmon Cheatham will be the guest reviewer, and use as her book, "My Heart Lies South," by Elizabeth Borton de Trevino. Mrs. Cheatham, who spent the past two summers in Mexico City and Acaculpo, studying Spanish, will include with the review some of her personal experiences while living with a Mexican family.

All members of the Womans' Club and friends are cordially invited to attend.

'RICH' PENSIONER

Los Angeles, Calif.- Believed by neighbors to have been living on an old age pension, Sidney Hopwood Langdale, 69, was found, after death, to have been the owner of more than $110,000 worth of United States Steel stock—1,950 shares, currently quoted at about $57 a share. Langdale died on October 27. He had one brother, Arthur J., of Salt Lake City.

More picnic areas on nation's highways are urged.
